

Cannabis Is Being Legalized

Trump Has Rescheduled Cannabis

The executive order titled “INCREASING MEDICAL MARIJUANA AND CANNABIDIOL RESEARCH,” signed by President Donald J. Trump on December 18, 2025, directs the federal government to finalize the process of reclassifying cannabis as a Schedule III controlled substance. This action federally acknowledges the accepted medical use of cannabis nationwide and places it in the same legal category as substances such as anesthetics and anabolic steroids. This marks a historic shift away from the prohibitionist policies first weaponized by Harry Anslinger under the 1937 Marijuana Tax Act and later escalated under the Nixon administration’s War on Drugs, President Trump has signaled for a long-overdue federal recognition of cannabis’s therapeutic and medicinal value.

The federal rescheduling of cannabis creates several significant benefits for patients nationwide. Insurance providers are now far more likely to cover medical cannabis treatments, and the rescheduling of cannabis ensures the protections of the disabled community under the Americans with Disabilities Act. Employers will have fewer grounds to discipline or terminate individuals who lawfully use medical cannabis with proper medical documentation, improving workplace security for patients. Additionally, this shift provides stronger federal safeguards for individuals in restrictive states, such as Tennessee, by reducing the risk of federal penalties and increasing pressure on those states to modernize their laws and move away from criminalizing legitimate medical cannabis use.

These changes mark a transformative milestone for the cannabis industry as a whole, setting the stage for broader acceptance, increased research, and meaningful integration into modern medical practice. TheWeedShop Inc. is proud to welcome this progressive and beneficial legislation, which not only validates the therapeutic value of cannabis, but also reinforces our commitment to providing safe, compliant, and high-quality products to patients and consumers alike. As federal policy evolves, we look forward to continuing our leadership in an industry that is finally receiving the recognition, legitimacy, and support it has long deserved.

1.

Scan To Visit Us

The Flower Of The Patriot

In God We Trust